Reviews

This type of publication is every thing and helped me seeking ahead and much more. It usually fails to charge too much. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

LAST STAND AT KHE SANH: THE U.S. MARINES' FINEST HOUR IN VIETNAM

DaCapo. 1 Cloth(s), 2014. hard. Book Condition: New. In January 1968, in the mountain stronghold of Khe Sanh, 6,000 U.S. Marines awoke to find themselves surrounded by 20,000 Viet Cong troops. The road to the coast was cut, and their fragile air lifeline was vulnerable to weather and enemy fire. Career foreign correspondent and investigative journalist Gregg Jones tells how the Marines and a contingent of Army Special Forces endured artillery barrages, sniper fire, ground assaults, and ambushes for 77 days, while Air Force, Marine, and Navy pilots braved perilous flying conditions to deliver supplies, evacuate casualties, and stem the enemy onslaught. From scores of oral accounts and interviews, Jones's thrilling narrative includes evocative portraits of these men under siege. "Jones spins his tale so deftly and effectively that he draws you intimately into the battles so much so that you become emotionally engaged . feeling the loss of comrades . feeling their pain . and witnessing the horrible ways that men are torn apart. And yet sharing their exhilaration when they succeed in overcoming huge odds. The result of Jones's efforts is a classic." Leatherneck Magazine "Well-written and superbly researched. Much of this engrossing book is devoted to individual Marines and their actions amid horrific combat. Jones, however, takes readers an important step further after Khe Sanh is saved and abandoned a few months later. In a moving epilogue, readers meet up again with several defenders and learn how their battle experiences shaped their lives afterward." Dallas Morning News 358.
